Item 1.

In the late 19th century, East Africa was colonized by powerful European countries. The colonial economy of East Africa underwent significant changes under British and German rule, transforming the East Africa's social structure, national resources and trade patterns. African leaders especially in East Africa blame the colonial masters for persistent economic under development in the region. They believe that the colonial masters exploited African resources to develop their countries. The infrastructures that was developed by the colonial masters was not meant to benefit the African but to enhance their exploitation of Africa's resources. 2

Task:

Explain the features of the above situation and show how East Africa was affected by the above change.

Item 2.

In East Africa, there is a growing number of NGOs working in various sectors such as healthcare, education, environmental conservation and human rights. These organizations play a crucial role in filling gaps left by the government services and advocating for marginalized communities. One such NGO is "East African Development initiatives"(EADI), which focuses on the empowering women and youth through skills training programs in rural areas.

EADI has been operating in Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda for several years, making a significant impact on the lives of many individuals. However, the organization is now facing a series of challenges that are threatening its sustainability and ability to continue its work effectively.

Task:

(a) Explain the role of the above organizations to the development of East African countries.

(b) Explain the challenges facing the organization. 3

SECTION B

Respond to one item in this section

Item 3.

In Sidanyi village, there is a very educated wealthy man. One of his children has offended an elder of the village. As a result of this, the elders have resolved that the child be punished in their traditional courts, but the father insists that the matter be handled by public court. This has angered the elders.

Task:

Write an essay convincing the educated wealthy man to accept the elders' decision.

Item 4.

A section of the people of Bulangira sub county are against the activities of Christian religious groups from Britain. They complained to the local government of the area to block its operations in their community citing challenges like noise pollution, fraud pastors and other related activities. However, the majority of the people in the area are of the view that despite the above challenges, religion plays a significant role in the development of the community and as a result, the Christian groups should be left to carry out their activities.

Task:

Write an essay to convince the people in Bulangira sub county to welcome the activities of daily Christian groups.
