SECTION A

This section is compulsory. Respond to the item below.

Item 1

The Qur'an provides guidance on justice, accountability, and the protection of the weak. In Surah Al-Ma'idah 5:8 Allah says, "O you who have believed, be persistently standing firm for Allah, witnesses in justice, and do not let the hatred of a people prevent you from being just. Be just; that is nearer to righteousness." In Surah Al-Imran 3:159 Allah says, "So by mercy from Allah, [O Muhammad], you were lenient with them. And if you had been rude [in speech] and harsh in heart, they would have disbanded from about you. So pardon them and ask forgiveness for them and consult them in the matter." These verses highlight Islamic principles of fairness, compassion, and consultation in leadership.

Task:
Using the information in the scenario and your religious knowledge:

(a) Examine how these specific Qur'anic verses mandate the protection of marginalized groups and the handling of political opposition in modern-day state administration.

(b) Evaluate the strategic military decisions made by Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) during the battles of Uhud and Khandaq (The Trench) to assess his execution of the Shura (consultative) framework.

SECTION B

Respond to one item from this section.

Item 2

In urban Muslim communities of Uganda, rapid modernization has created new challenges. Many youths are drawn to social media trends that promote materialism and neglect religious values. Mosques in these areas struggle to attract young worshippers, as sermons are often delivered in ways that fail to connect with modern realities. Rising unemployment has also led to frustration, with some youths engaging in drug abuse and petty crime. Community leaders are debating how to strengthen Islamic institutions to respond to these challenges. They look to lessons from Muslim educational centres in Timbuktu and the role of Islamic universities in shaping societies.

Task:
Using the information in the scenario and your historical knowledge:

(a) Analyse the internal administrative and financial constraints hindering the Uganda Muslim Supreme Council (UMSC) from establishing effective youth-centric development institutions in metropolitan areas.

(b) Examine how the ancient curriculum design and structural organization of the Sankore Mosque/University in Timbuktu can be adapted to reform modern Islamic higher education and vocational centers in Uganda.

Item 3

Some Muslim families in Uganda face challenges in balancing religious obligations with modern economic pressures. Parents often work long hours in informal businesses, leaving children without proper guidance. This has led to neglect of Qur'anic education, poor family cohesion, and rising cases of domestic conflict. In addition, limited access to Islamic family counselling services worsens the situation. Similar challenges were faced during the reign of Caliph Umar ibn al-Khattab, who emphasized social justice, family welfare, and community support systems.

Task:
Using the information in the scenario and your historical knowledge:

(a) Evaluate the institutional mechanisms such as the Diwan (state registry) and treasury reforms introduced by Caliph Umar ibn al-Khattab to provide social security to vulnerable households and children.

(b) Analyse how contemporary Ugandan Muslim judicial bodies, specifically the Qadhi courts, can incorporate the legal precedents set by Caliph Umar on family protection to mitigate modern domestic disputes and marital fractures.
